

2nd Research Network International Master Days

For master's students in the areas of Health & Social Affairs and Business Psychology

The Institute for Health & Social Affairs of FOM University is organizing the 2nd RNI Master Days within the Research Network International (RNI) project, funded by the German Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF). In cooperation with the Medical University of Silesia (Katowice, Poland) the event takes place on two evenings for selected master's students. Students interested in health research are now invited to apply.

When?

31 August and 2 September 2021 from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. (including breaks)

The event will take place as part of the Digital Master Research Forum of the FOM University of Applied Sciences.

Where?

Virtually@everywhere

Who and what?

2 x 5 selected students will have the chance to get insights into international research plus the opportunity to present their own research ideas to an international audience. This includes the possibility to discuss one's ideas with international students and researchers in an informal setting. In addition to gaining first experiences in the scientific community, there is the opportunity to make new contacts for future collaborations. The language of the event is English.

The advantages

- Participation is free of charge as the project is funded by the BMBF
- Presentation and discussion of your own research idea among an international audience
- Insights into international research
- Possibility of active networking
- Evening events which will interfere as little as possible with your work and study hours
- Certificate of attendance

Application requirements

- For master's students in the areas of Health & Social Affairs and Business Psychology
- Scientific ambitions and special interest in research
- Successful completion of the module "Scientific Methodology"
- Letter of motivation (details next page)
- Abstract of your research (details next page)

Please send your complete application documents (one single PDF) by 20 July 2021 to promaniuk@sum.edu.pl

Later registrations might be considered depending on availability.

Contact to the project

Piotr Romaniuk PhD. habil.
promaniuk@sum.edu.pl

2nd Research Network International Master Days

For master's students in the areas of Health & Social Affairs and Business Psychology

Further information on the application

Letter of motivation (English language, 1/2 page; Arial 11pt, line spacing 1.5)

Why are you aiming for an academic career? What are your professional goals? Why are you eligible for the program (e.g. special scientific knowledge and skills, language skills, experience)? What qualifies you personally for an academic career? In which subject area would you like to conduct research or write your master's thesis?

Abstract (English language, 1/2 page; Arial 11pt, line spacing 1.5)

Choice of topic is free: you should present your own research ideas from the health sector. The following points can be used as a guideline:

■ Problem definition

Explain the subject and research questions.

■ Sketch of the current state of research

Briefly present the state of research on the problem described.

■ Own research question(s)

E.g. identify a research gap and specify the research question. In the case of empirical work, the central hypotheses are to be outlined.

■ Method

Briefly describe the planned empirical procedure (data collection, evaluation methods, etc.).

Further information in the course of the 2nd RNI Master Days

Virtual evening event on 31 August 2021 and 02 September 2021 from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., including breaks

1st evening Presentation of research conducted by the FOM and SUM; Warm-Up; Presentation of the students' research ideas with the help of their own short presentations (3-minute pitches, max. 3-4 slides); exchange and discussion rounds; insights into international research

2nd evening Warm-up; continuation of pitches and discussions; reflection

Contact to the project

Piotr Romaniuk PhD. habil.
promaniuk@sum.edu.pl